FOOD for the Soul

Born in a joint family in Mumbai, Hitesh Mulchandani is the younger of two siblings. He graduated from Hill Grange High School, and joined the family business (a chain of budget hotels) at Hotel Landmark, Fort to help with its daily functioning, soon after. Next, Hitesh attended the H R College of Commerce (2003) and simultaneously completed a course in Software Programming from NIIT. "Food was never really an obsession for me, but I've absolutely loved to experiment with it ever since I was a child. What fascinated me the most was how the food was served. I have a distinct memory of often asking my mother to give me simple home cooked food in a new type of plate. Being a Sindhi, you can only imagine how many sets of crockery were stacked away for the right occasion!"
