

couple of decades design in India was totally utilitarian, it has now evolved to include design and aesthetics with functionality. This will continue for some time until Indian architecture is on par with the world. We are a country with some of the finest historical architecture in the world.”

Incidentally, the industry either due to sheer coincidence, or our energy, our office is largely female. Whether it is in designing and 3D, or sourcing, vendor coordination, and site-management, our women have learnt on the job and are really the backbone of the company.”

As a firm that is all about creation, they also make and brands and Hermiting is a work in progress arm that will be launched soon. They are also the creative brains behind Ragasthan - an annual music event and destination festival in the dunes of Rajasthan that merges music, art, film, sport, camping, nature and happiness!

Spiro Spero is currently the business to other locations and work on projects in remote and exotic places because travel is a shared passion for the team. When she isn't working, she likes to bake, read, and spend time with her dogs. An avid traveler, she has seen one third of the world and is working hard each day so she can fulfill her dream of

G91 - Interiors

By The Waterside

Smriti is part of is pretty much male-dominated - with everyone from clients to vendors, workers, and even restaurant staff all being mostly male. “But I am happy to report that original furniture that they retail through their latest outfit - Smalshop. Design Studio, their in-house design space is where they design art and installations for events

Tea Villa, Surat

working on numerous assignments that will create design benchmarks and thriving communities of the future. Looking ahead, Smriti hopes to expand seeing the rest of it. “Travel inspires me. Along with people who do good in the smallest of situations,” she signs off!

“WHILE FOR THE LAST COUPLE OF DECADES, DESIGN IN INDIA WAS TOTALLY UTILITARIAN, IT HAS NOW EVOLVED TO INCLUDE DESIGN AND AESTHETICS WITH FUNCTIONALITY