

The luxury cottages at Tamara Coorg are truly stunning!

of its kind in India, and are elevated from the ground by about 10 metres. The natural contouring of earth slopes has not been disturbed to maintain the ecology of the area. With its uniquely elevated structure, the cottages achieve an amazing footprint of only 0.5% on the ground. Secondly, they are really spacious. The Luxury Cottages are 660 sq ft, Suite Cottages are 992 sq ft and the Eden Lotus Suite Cottage is expansive at a whopping 1,670 sq feet! The luxury Villas are built in a way that they merge in with the naturally terraced landscape, interlinked by winding paths that also make for good (though slightly laborious) walks. A fleet of electric cars (or buggys as they are known) help you move around here, in case you're not in the mood to walk around the massive estate. The Luxury and Suite Cottages have large living areas, outfitted with modernistic furnishings including plush four-seater futons, LED television sets, king-size beds, comfortable lounge chairs and board games for recreation. The rooms are done up very tastefully in wood and hues of teal, but it is the views that make these rooms what they are – the stunning valleys, misty mountains and lush green plantations make you feel like you are staying amidst nature.
